TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 15

Persons leaving the city can have the Gazette mailed to them, to any address, at the rate of fifty cents per month.

For this section warmer, fair weather, southerly winds to-day, cooler by Wednesday night, fair Thursday.

A SCATTERED FLOCK.—Since the enforcement of the provisions of the cow law these owning specimens of the bovine creation have been in the habit of driving them to the commons and lots on the outskirts of the city and allowing them to graze and chew the cud alternately throughout the day, driving them home again at the "kneet of departing day." Some people, however, whose eyes are not limited to poetry at the sight of the "lowing herd wading slowly o'er the sea," object to the dust raised by the animals in their diurnal journeys, and have protested against their being driven through the unpaved streets. A dairyman living in the southern section of the city who owns a number of animals in the northern environs of the city, and of driving them to and fro daily. A resident of the neighborhood of the corner of Columbus and Wolfe streets this morning seeing the flock coming in the distance stationed himself at this point and undertook to turn the herd in another direction. The driver, however, objected. A crowd of words ensued, followed by a stone battle, during which the cows scattered toward every point of the compass, and were with some difficulty collected again.

CHARTERS IN VIRGINIA.—There are now over one hundred Washington companies that have charters granted in this city, and have nominally their principal office here. The reason for this is that the District of Columbia gives a more limited field than most of the States to corporations, which do the work that was once done by partnerships. The law there also requires most of the organizations incorporated under the general law by deposit of certificate to advertise once a year a full statement of their business, and provides that on failure to do so each corporation shall become personally liable for the debts of the corporation. The narrow field given by this general law has led many of the corporate bodies to take charters under the laws of the Virginia or some of the western States, and as Alexandria is so conveniently situated a majority of such charters are obtained here.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.—The commissioners of the sinking fund to-day examined the accounts for the past year, as to the bonds and certificates held by them, all of which were found correct.

It is understood that the question of appointing physicians to the poor will also be brought before Council to-night.

THE RED MEN'S EXCURSION.—The excursion given by the Red Men to River View yesterday was a decided success. Everything passed off quietly and all who attended enjoyed themselves. About 9:30 at night the hotel was discovered to be on fire. The fire was caused by a lamp exploding in one of the bed rooms and setting fire to the bedding. The fire was soon extinguished by the members of the Columbia Fire Company. The prizes were awarded to the following persons: Tub race—Mr. John Sutton, gold ring.
